

Local History Books

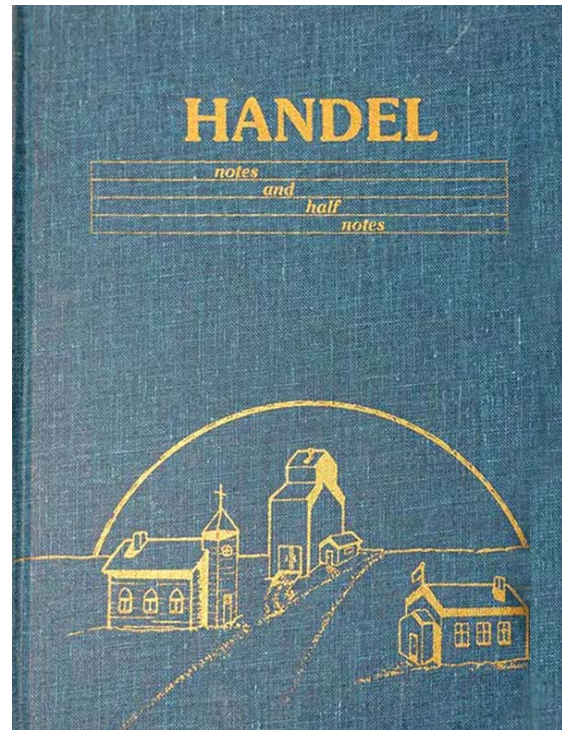

Local history books provide great context to understanding the lives of the homesteaders. The largest collection of local history books was published around 1980 to celebrate Saskatchewan's 75th anniversary of becoming a province.

Fortunately, most communities in St. Joseph's Colony prepared a history book. The work was done by committees of volunteers with financial support from the government and local businesses and organizations. Books typically include a history of the town, the schools, churches, businesses and events, as well as family biographies and photos submitted by the local families.

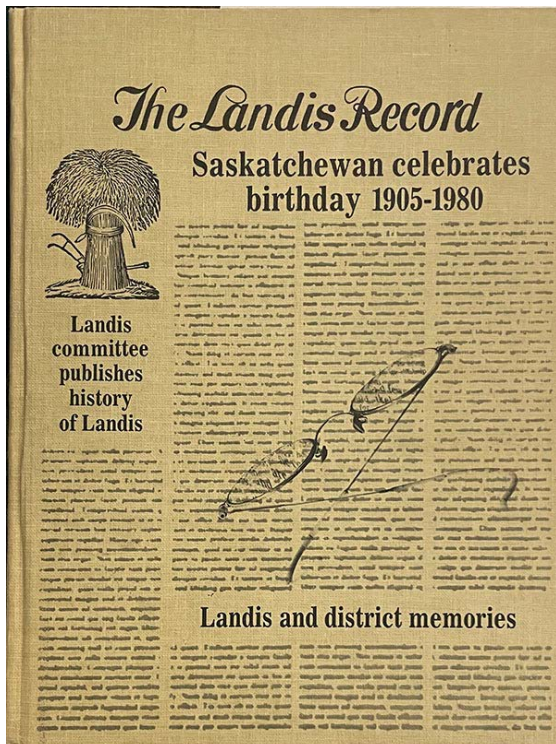

These books are out of print but with a bit of perseverance can be found. The first step would be to contact a relative who lived in the Colony in 1980 as copies of these books were very widespread in the community. Failing that, copies can be purchased or viewed in used book stores, municipal offices, museums, estate sales, libraries and genealogical societies. Some have been digitized and can be viewed online.

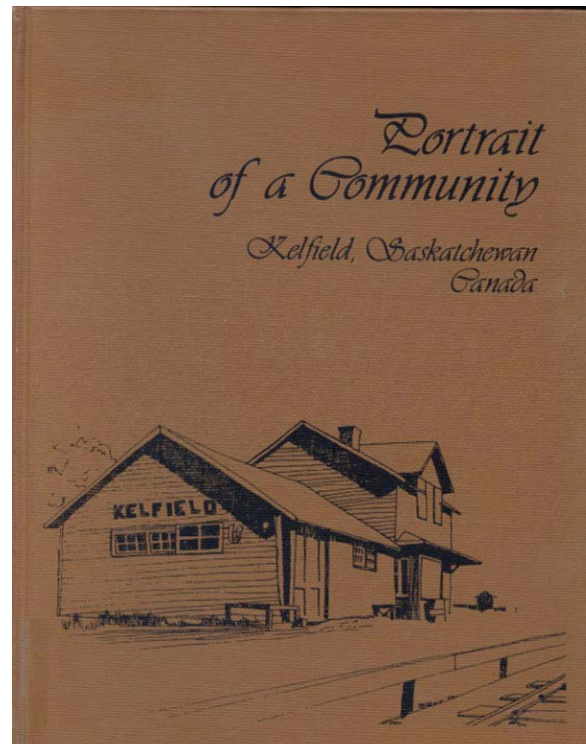

Includes Leipzig, Pascal and Cavell

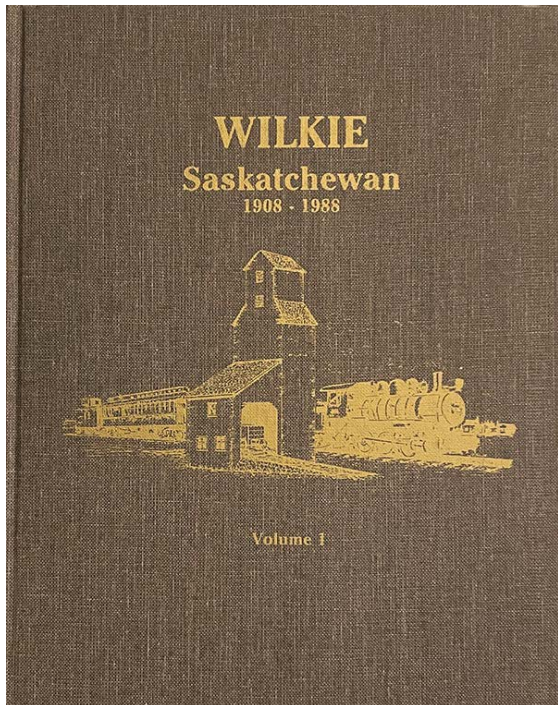

Includes Handel and Carmelheim

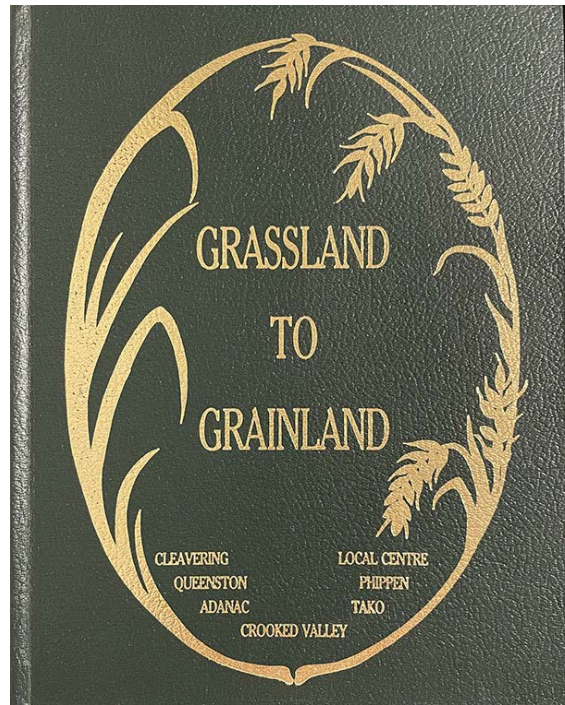

Includes Landis, Palo and Traynor

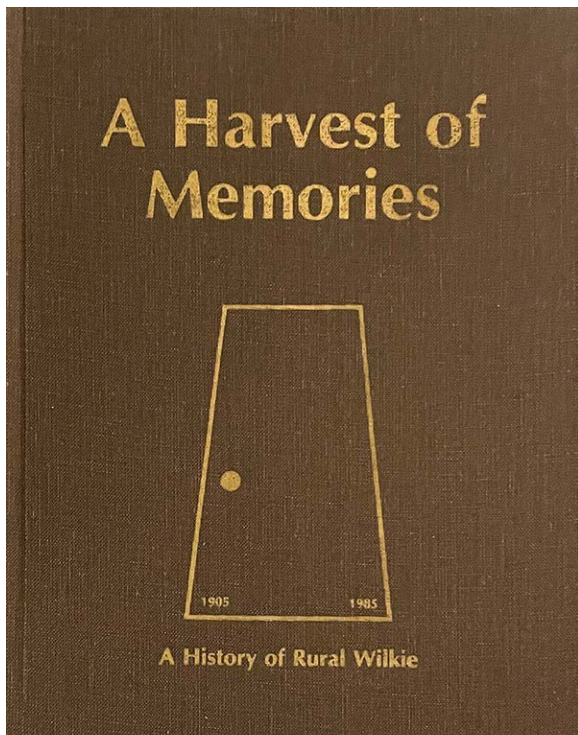

Includes Kelfield

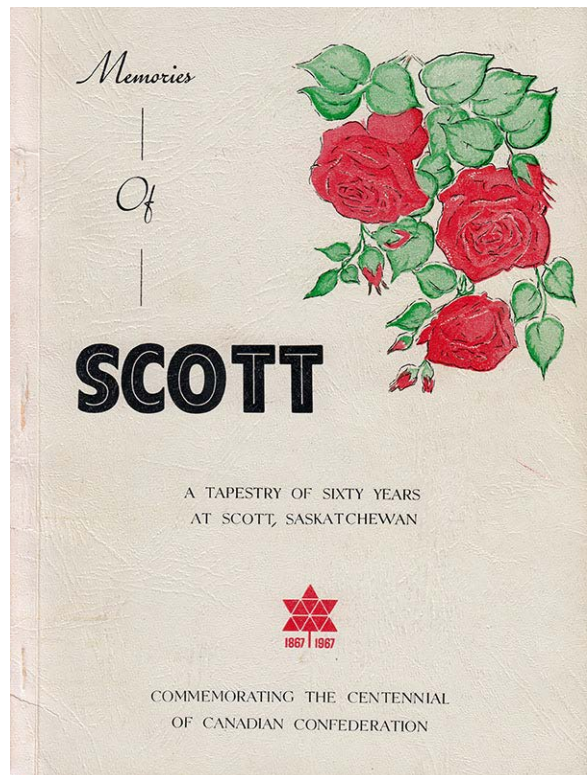

Includes Wilkie,

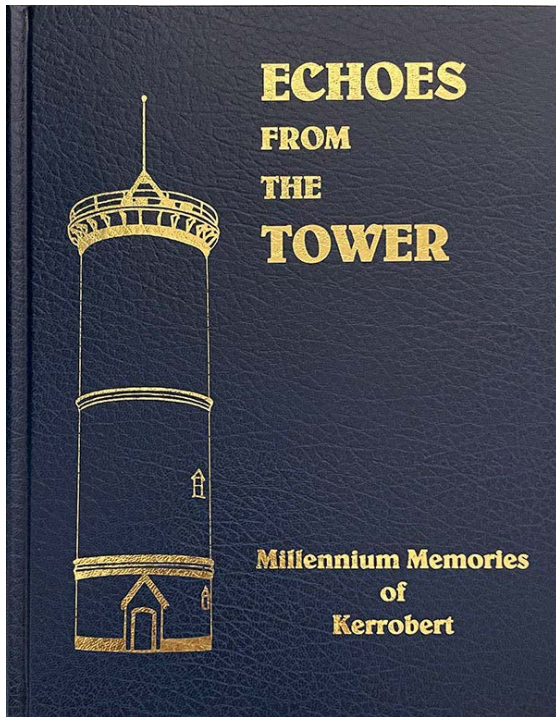

Includes Adanac, Tako and Phippen

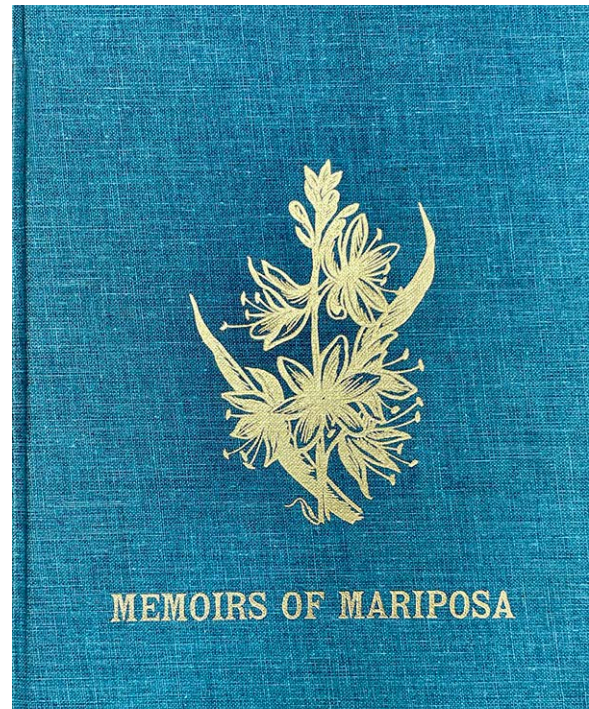

Includes Reford, Leipzig, Cavell, Scott, Phippen, St. Alphege

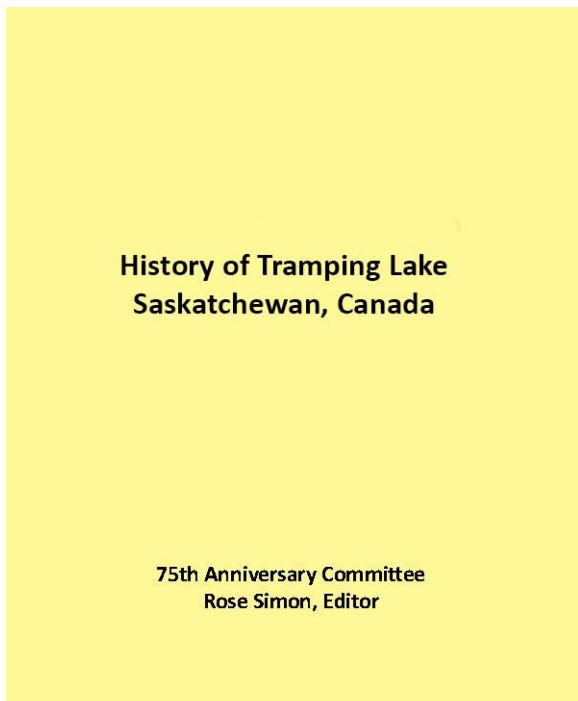

Includes Scott

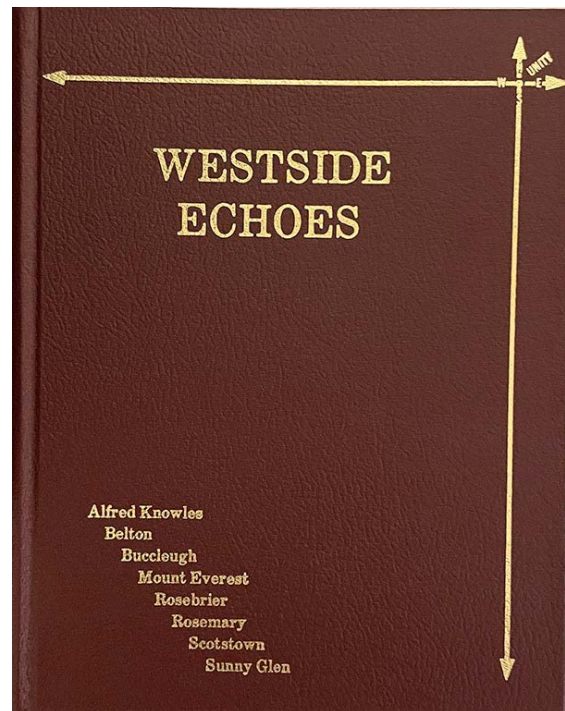

Includes Kerrobert

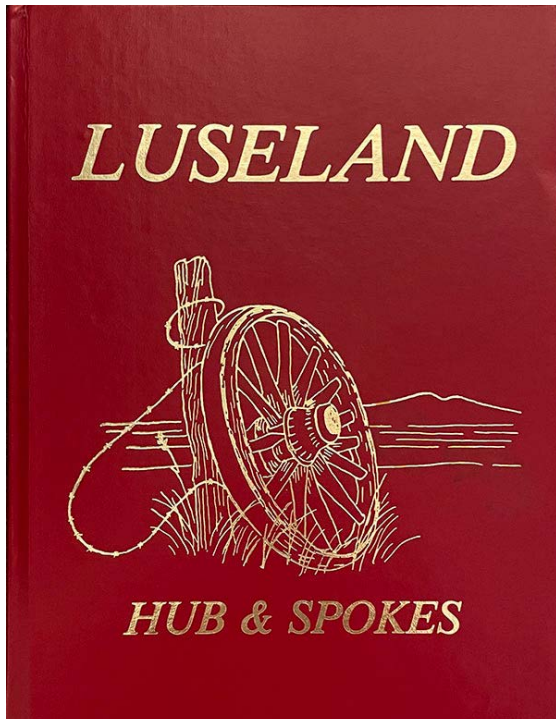

Includes Kerrobert, Broadacres, Tramping Lake

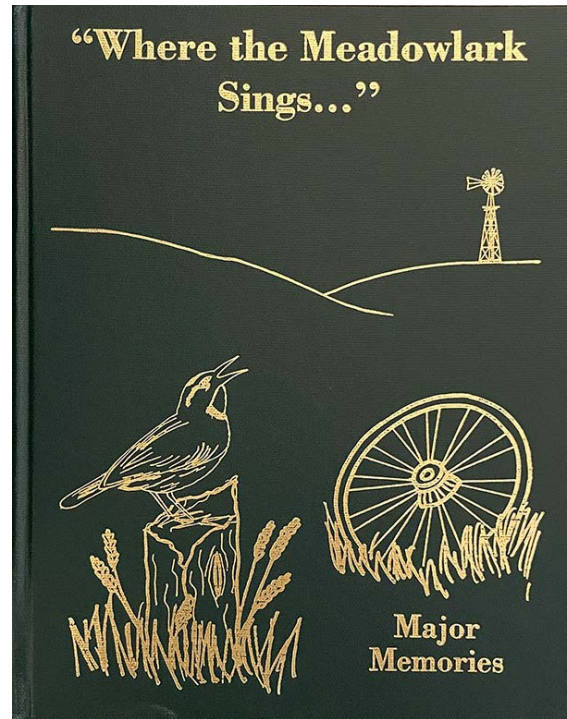

Includes Tramping Lake

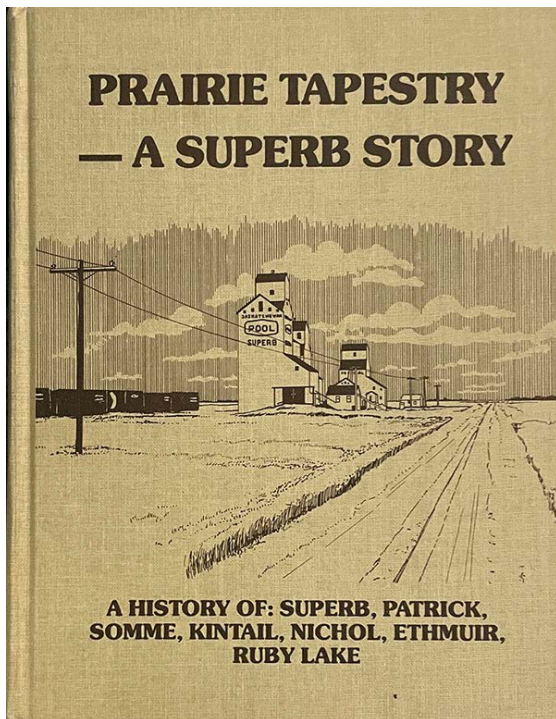

Includes Reward and Ufford

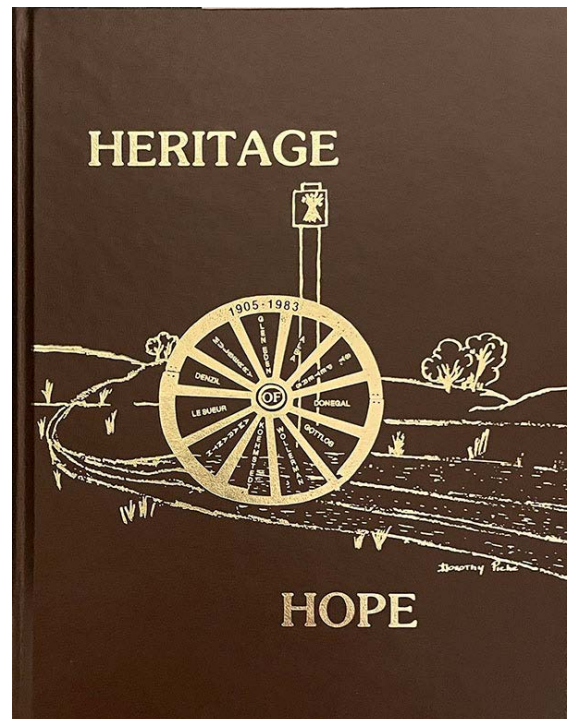

Includes Luseland, Hearts Hill and Baliol

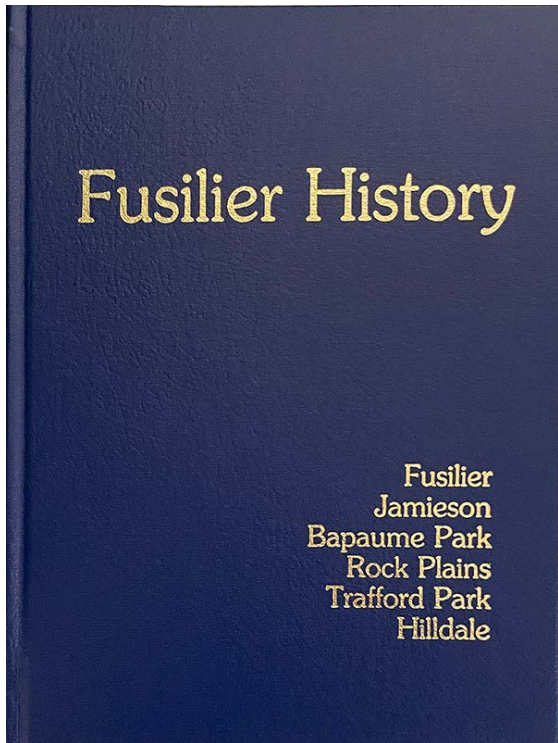

Includes Major

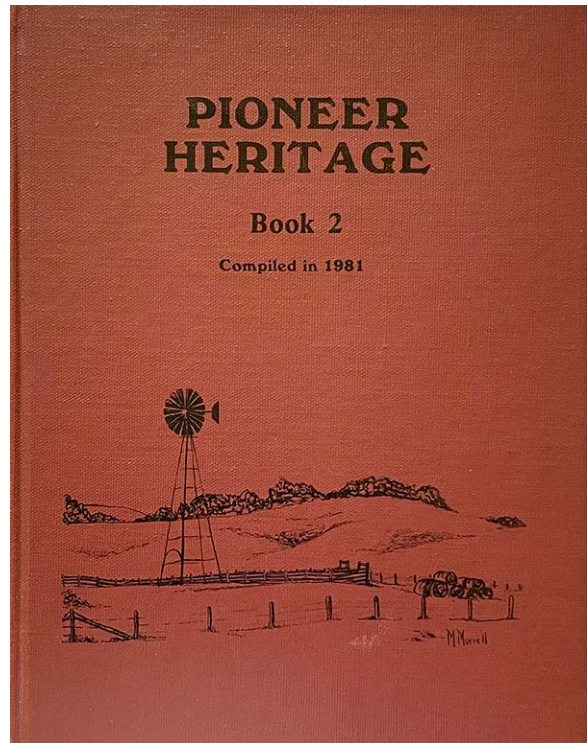

Includes Superb

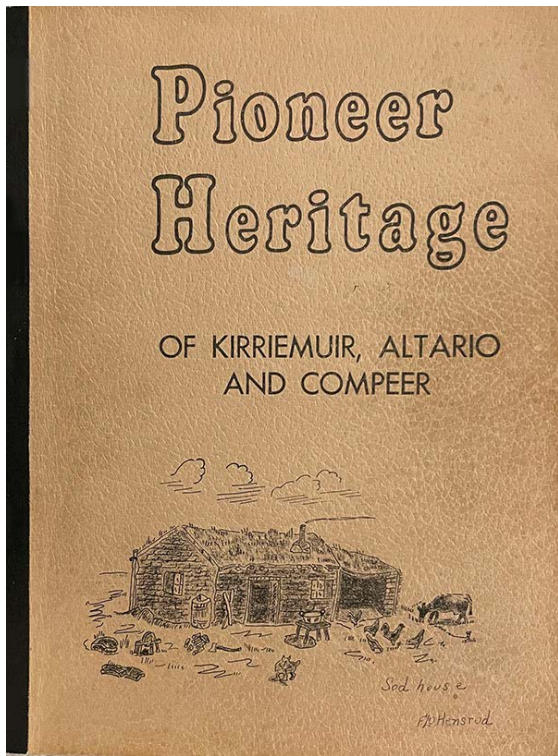

Includes Denzil and Donegal

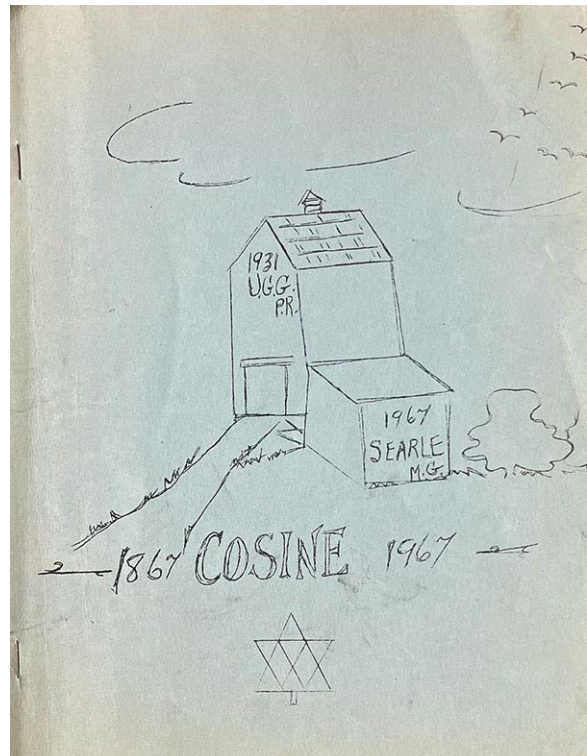

Includes Fusilier

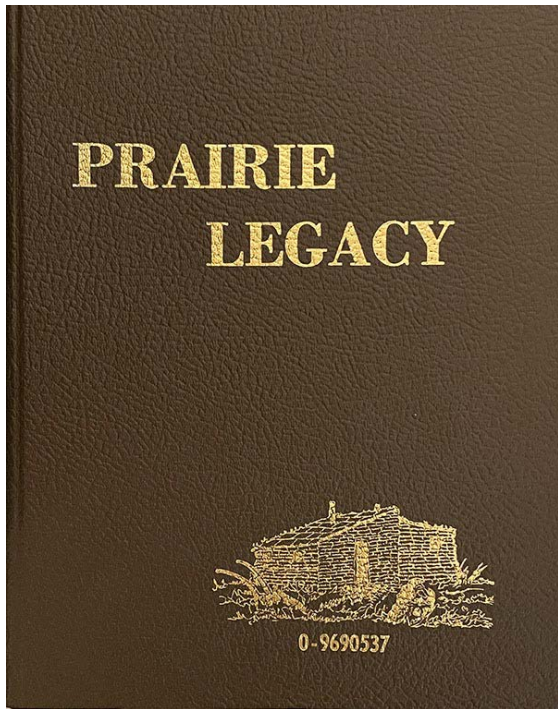

Includes Compeer

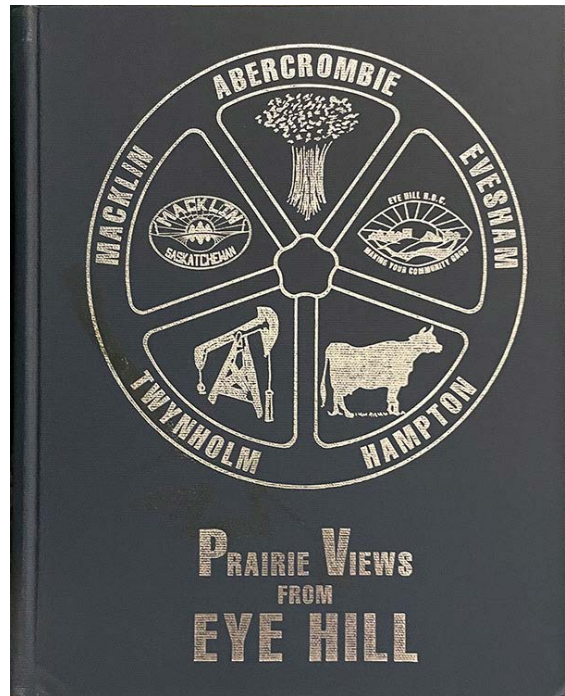

Includes Compeer

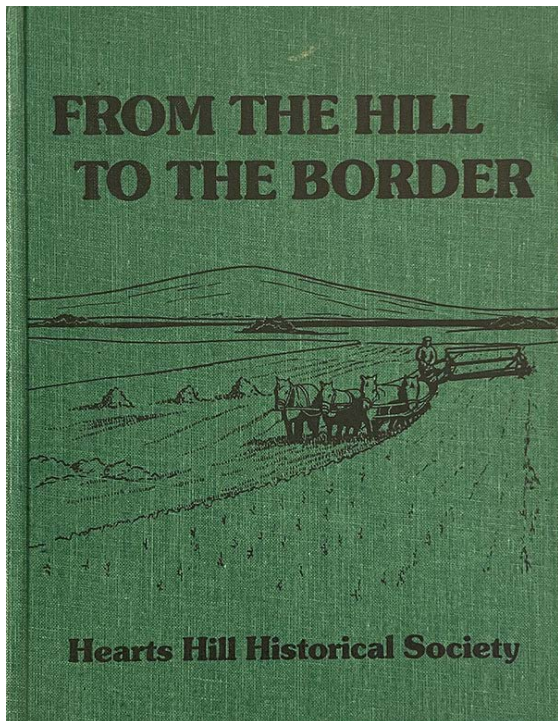

Includes Cosine

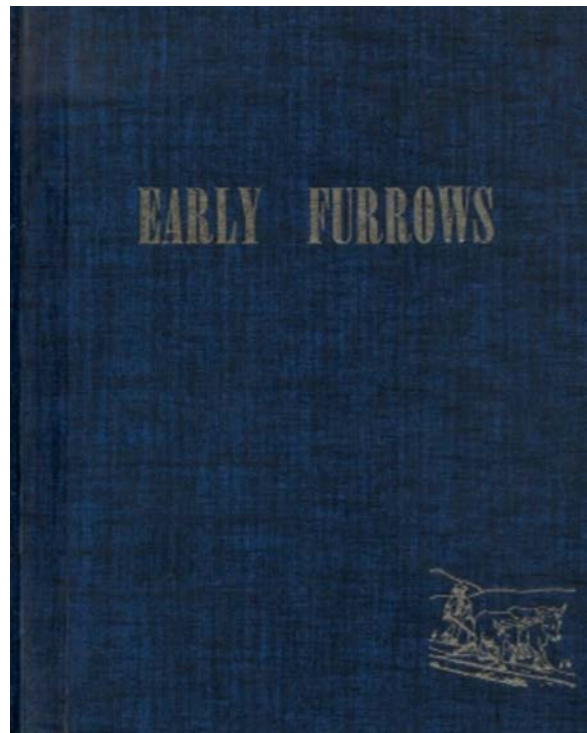

Includes Grosswerder, Cactus Lake and Primate

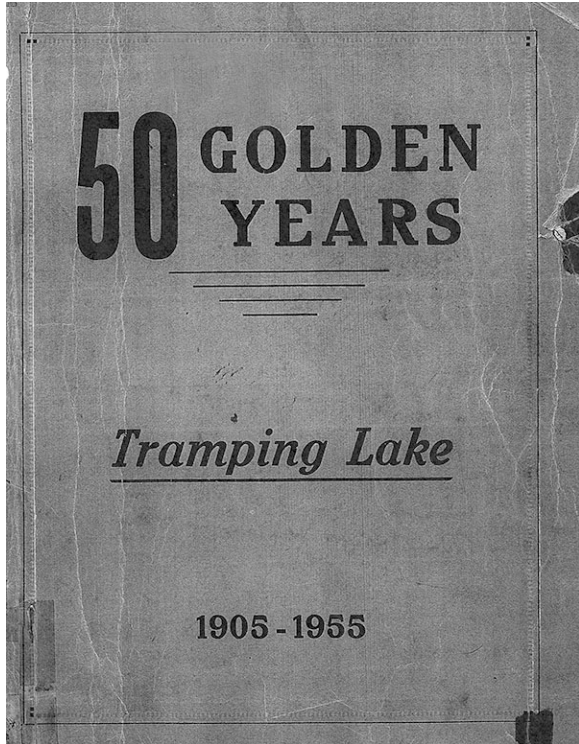

Includes Macklin and Evesham

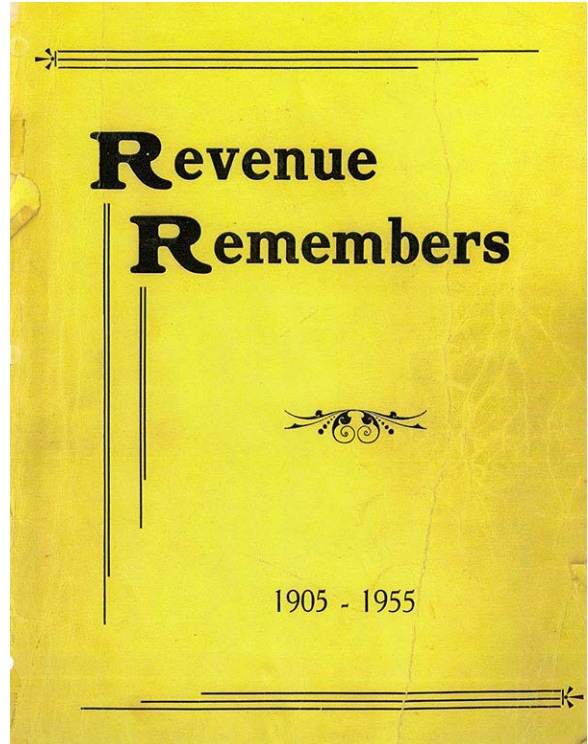

Includes Hearts Hill and St. Donatus

Includes Provost, Hayter and Bodo

Includes Tramping Lake

Includes Revenue

Other Books Which in Whole or in Part Discuss St. Joseph's Colony

